the Only Begotten Son of God,
born of the Father before all ages.

All bow while saying:

and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary,
and became man.

For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate,
he suffered death and was buried,

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son,
who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified,
who has spoken through the prophets.

I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church.

On the Cusp of Change:
William O. Brady and Catholic Culture

On March 31, 1947, at the corner of Summit and Selby Ave. Archbishop Murray was struck by a car, sustaining injuries requiring hospitalization. Most of his daily activities were carried out by chancery staff and a new Auxiliary Bishop, James J. Byrne (later Archbishop of Dubuque). This included ordinations and other lengthy (in those days especially) episcopal ceremonies that were simply too taxing for Murray. Byrne also went to Rome, representing the Archdiocese for the Ad Limina visit. On June 16, 1956, the Vatican saw fit to appoint Bishop William O. Brady (1899-1961) of Sioux Falls as Coadjutor Archbishop of the Archdiocese of Saint Paul. He was no stranger to Minnesota, having previously taught at the Saint Paul Seminary and even serving as its rector. On the very same day, Pope Pius XII named Bishop Byrne as Bishop of Boise, ID. As it turns out, Murray never really recovered and remained in St. Joseph’s Hospital. He did not attend the installation. But Bishop Fulton Sheen most certainly did attend. The famous television preacher, known for his show “Life is Worth Living,” was a staple in many post World War II homes. EWTN regularly broadcasts reruns of the series.

By all accounts, Catholic piety in this country reached its apex in the 1950’s. For example, last Sunday we hosted a beautiful Rosary procession from the State Capitol to the Cathedral. It is always one of my favorite events and while the Church was nicely filled on Mother’s Day, it still paled in comparison to earlier generations. Recall, Pope Pius XII solemnly proclaimed the Assumption a dogma of the Faith in 1950, aiding in the flourishing of Marian devotion. Some of you may recall Fr. Patrick Peyton, the “Rosary priest.” In 1958, his Family Rosary Crusade made its way to Saint Paul, perhaps at the very apex of Marian devotion in this country. His slogan, “The Family That Prays Together Stays Together” was enthusiastically embraced, and on a crisp Sunday in October, no fewer than 225,000 assembled on the State Capitol grounds to hear Fr. Peyton’s message and to pray the Rosary! This must surely have been the largest religious gathering in our state’s history. Annual Rosary processions drew many thousands to the steps of the Cathedral and Basilica.

As a student of history, I am hesitant to be drawn into sheer nostalgia, absent of a necessary objectivity. We can too easily glorify the past, pining for halcyon days that were never quite as good as we might think today. Still, it is difficult to compare Catholic life in the late 1950’s with today because the societal and ecclesial landscape is so radically different. The late 1950’s also saw the flourishing of Catholic women’s organizations such as the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women. They were led by the “charming and formidable” Mrs. Florence Kueppers, as described by Fr. O’Connell in his masterful history of the Archdiocese. She also helped to initiate the annual May Rosary Procession, now in its 69th year! Her grandson, Joe Kueppers, annually leads the Rosary from inside the Cathedral—his voice carried over loud speakers along the procession route. Joe currently works as the Archdiocesan Chancellor for Civil Affairs.

Brady was smart, decisive and unafraid to ruffle a few feathers with his decisions. As Archbishop, he named himself the seminary rector for a time, before making a more permanent decision. The over-meticulous and always-prepared Brady presided over a time of tremendous prosperity in the church, though the establishment of new parishes had significantly slowed by then. But the schools we had were growing. Total Catholic School enrollment (K-12) spiked from 49,843 in 1950 to 82,740 in 1960, a 40% increase in one decade! This growth, combined with the rather difjust one year after his arrival, the “Irish” towns that largely developed due to the vision of John Ireland. But rather quickly in suggesting that yet another diocese be formed out of the different priorities and perspectives of rural life, motivated Brady to move. He was the world of Brady, and struggles would he have witnessed, both in church and society? His today’s typical retirement age of 75, thus until 1974. How many changes, about a week later. He was only sixty-two. But imagine had he lived until his flight to Rome, he suffered a heart attack. He died in a Roman hospital about a week later. He was only sixty-two. But imagine had he lived until today’s typical retirement age of 75, thus until 1974. How many changes, and struggles would he have witnessed, both in church and society? His was the world of Paty Kline, Camelot on Broadway, Andy Griffith and Gunsmoke. Archbishop Brady was called home to God, just before all those changes would occur. Soon, that landscape would be radically different.

- I am so deeply grateful to our dedicated staff and many volunteers who worked so hard to prepare our Cathedral and grounds for this past Friday’s festivities. These are such key events in the life of the Church and that we have the opportunity to be so deeply involved is a real blessing. We need to remember, even despite the many preparations that take up so much time and energy. I believe it is well worth it!

- Thankfully, I have been busy with installation-related events to pay too much attention to the hapless Minnesota Twins. Right now, I’ll take any excuse to avoid seeing the painful box scores. I’m still a loyal fan, just frankly surprised and extremely disappointed. And yes, I am regularly reminded of my prediction! Let’s hope they can start stringing together some wins. But their problems pale in comparison to the off-the-court issues faced by the Gopher Basketball team. Yikes!

- Bishop Michael Burbidge of Raleigh, NC wrote an insightful and balanced piece on the controversial North Carolina legislation dealing with gender and public restrooms, calling for civil dialogue, something all too missing. It is well worth accessing to read. In part he wrote: “The common sense use of gender specific multi-stall bathrooms for parishes and Catholic schools throughout eastern NC reflects reasonable boundaries, especially for youth and young people.” You may follow the link to his statement on HB2 at www.dioceseofraleigh.org.

- I am as horrified as any of you about the recent abduction and assault that took place nearby the Cathedral. The man was arrested, but not after committing a horrific crime. Approximately three weeks before that incident, we had installed security cameras in our church basement that can be monitored. When parishioners have alerted us to suspicious behavior, I am confident that we have acted swiftly in addressing it. Vigilance is always our best bet.

Sincerely in Christ,
Fr. John L. Ubel,
Rector

Thank you to the Knights of Columbus and the Ladies Auxiliary who helped to make this a wonderful success for Moms on Mother’s Day!
“... their riches reveal themselves step by step...”

As early as 1904, Archbishop Ireland set a rule for the interior embellishment of the Cathedral: “The work will not go, as a matter of course, to the lowest bidder, but to an artist.” This was Archbishop Dowling’s guide as he worked with Maginnis & Walsh on the completion of the sanctuary. In 1918, Pennell, Gibbs and Quiring of Boston created the “brightly colored representation of the Holy Spirit and His Seven Gifts.” Msgr. Lawrence Ryan, who worked at Dowling’s side, summarized the symbolism of their work.

Viewing the altar as a whole from a point just outside the bronze gates of the Communion rail, we note two vitally expressive symbols: 1st, we see a great bronze shield just below the cross that crowns the canopy or baldacchino. The centerpiece of this shield is a dove—a symbol of the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit descending at the Holy Mass—comes with his choicest gifts in sacrifice and sacraments. This beautiful symbolism relates the altar to its background. In the center of the ceiling above is a painting of the descent of the Holy Spirit—just below this panel are several paintings of angel figures representing the seven gifts of the Holy Spirit. The seven stained glass windows represent seven sacraments. It is through the sacrifice of the Mass and through the seven sacraments of the church that God the Holy Spirit sanctifies the souls of all men of Good will... As in all great masterpieces... their riches reveal themselves slowly step by step to those who give time, thought and intelligent emotional response. From these awesome delights emerge beauty and mystery.

The sanctuary apse is a stunning display of the art of painting and stained glass—and the richness of symbol. The angel figures in the coffers symbolize knowledge, counsel, wisdom, understanding, piety, fear of the Lord and fortitude. The windows below the coffers celebrate the sacraments each represented by an Archangel: Baptism, Confirmation, Holy Orders, Eucharist, Matrimony, Penance, Extreme Unction. These windows were the artistic debut of Charles Connick, the artist who brought “vibrant patterns of vivid color” to every corner of the Cathedral.

Excerpts from An Architectural Biography, by Eric Hansen.

Note:
A Glorious Opportunity. “A great rose window is a living entity, a glorious opportunity.” Connick, regarded as the finest craftsman in stained glass, created masterpieces—the Cathedral’s rose windows. The Cathedral Heritage Foundation is leading the drive to restore these windows to their original and glorious color. The south window, the window of the Beatitudes, has been restored at the cost of $104,000, raised by the Cathedral Heritage Foundation. The restoration of the north rose window, celebrating the North American martyrs, has been estimated at $105,000. Towards this total, the Cathedral Heritage Foundation has raised over $79,000 and is currently working to raise the $26,000 needed to complete the funding. To be part of this challenge, make a gift of any amount to the Cathedral Heritage Foundation—it’s a glorious opportunity. Contact: www.cathedralheritagefoundation.org.

MASS INTENTIONS

Scripture and Tradition witness to the value of praying for those who have gone before us in faith. Both Catholic tradition and Church Law clearly acknowledge that it is a laudable practice for the faithful to make offerings in the form of Mass intentions. It has deliberately chosen the more precise term “offering” to clearly show that any offering given for the celebration of a Mass is to be freely given.

Each Mass offered here at the Cathedral is assigned an intention, most often for those who have died, though intentions are not limited to the deceased. It is especially recommended to remember deceased loved ones on the anniversary day of their death or their birthday. Generally speaking, Mass intentions ought to be for a single person. Common exceptions include a Mass offering for a couple’s 25th wedding anniversary, for example. You are encouraged to call the Cathedral office at 651.228.1766 in order to arrange intentions.

Please note the names for whom the Mass Intention is offered are not announced at the Mass.
